Catalina was a sweet girl who loved her mom, dad, sisters, and baby brother. Her baby brother always said, "My girl, where's my girl?". Catalina loved hanging out with her big sisters Rose and Daisy, but especially loved her "fat naps," as she would call them; she loved them so much that she would take a "fat nap" from the house to the store. One day her teacher left early, and Catalina said, "Oh no, she better take me with her," probably so she could take a "fat nap". She loved watching YouTube, TikTok, and eating her favorite chips blue Takis. On the way home from school, Catalina would pick flowers and put them behind her mom's ears. She was always playing with her baby brother, telling him, "Hold on, let me get on your level" and kneeling down to his height. She loved cooking for mom and dad and feeding them breakfast in bed. Catalina just loved food and snacks. Like her dad, she liked the Dallas Cowboys and was a fearless girl with a big heart; nothing scared her. She loved her dog, George, and he loved and protected her. Her nickname from Mom and Dad was Princess Catalina. She loved reading books, stuffed animals, and was a go-getter; there was nothing she couldn't do. She was daddy's girl and mama's world. Once, she wanted bangs, and when mom said yes, she ran and told her dad and was so happy about it; that night, Catalina loved taking selfies of herself. She would pray before school for the safety of her family and all the school kids with her mom and baby. Catalina's favorite colors were black, purple, and gray. She will be greatly missed by her family and friends.

“Catalina and Elijah rode my bus. It was a joy to have her on the bus. They both were always a big help as they were the last two off the bus they would make sure no one left anything behind. I would often give them treats. Takis were a big favorite of Catalina. Like the father at her service said. She would get off the bus everyday and wave to me like to say ill see you tomorrow. I miss that every single day now. But I know in my heart she is in the arm of our Lord and Savior. Running on those streets of gold. She still will dearly be miss here on earth. Catalina we will all see you again baby girl. Until then watch over your family and Friends ❤️
