Drew Irvin was born on May 26, 1997, in Hobbs, New Mexico, to Kendra and Daniel Irvin. From a young age, Drew carried a clear sense of purpose and a dream that never wavered — to become a police officer. He fulfilled that calling with pride, serving with the Roswell Police Department for four and a half years.

Drew loved his work deeply. Being a police officer wasn't just a job to him; it was the life he had imagined since childhood. He approached every shift with dedication, courage, and a genuine desire to help others.

Outside of his service, Drew found joy in creating music, a passion that allowed him to express himself and unwind. He also cherished time spent with his friends, who knew him as someone who was always ready with a laugh, a listening ear, or a helping hand.

Drew will be remembered for his hardworking spirit, his ambition, his kindness, and the way he consistently put others before himself. He touched many lives in ways big and small, and his absence will be felt deeply by all who knew and loved him.

He is survived by his wife Natalia Irvin; father, Daniel Irvin; sisters: Alyssa Dyck, Cymber Park, Hailey Singleton; grandmother, Claudia Wilson; aunt and uncle: Brianne and Stephen Wilson; nieces and nephews: Elara Dyck, Gyffin Dyck, Rayn Dyck, Cassandra Dyck, Allora Park, David Singleton, Stanley Singleton, Beau Singleton; close friends: Alex Martinez, Calista Mckerral, Luke Mckerral, Wesson Mckerral, and Cathy Mckerral; his beloved pets: Shadow, Bella, and Toti; and all of his Roswell Police Department family. Drew's tribute was lovingly written by his sisters.

“ Officer Irvin was an almost nightly angel to those of us working just about every night in the ED. Officer Irvin would take a few minutes during the night to stop in the ED to make sure that the ED staff was okay...to make sure we didn't need any assistance with a difficult situation. Over the years I have been most grateful to have this officer's support and protection of my night ED crew. Much more importantly, I have been blessed to call him Friend.
Thank you Officer Ervin, for the care you provided to all of Roswell.
