“ I just found out 2 years later that my father passed away. I'm a little bit confused. We didn't have a real relationship for about 25 years, but his wife could've reached out to me. His other children had my information for the past 13 years. then i go onto the internet, no photos of this man, no tribute, and I don't even know if he was cremated or buried. I would've liked to have honored this man who birthed me, but I wasn't given a chance. And I get a card today, 3 months after I sent him a fathers day card to rekindle our relationship. Terrible. Dad, I love you and have always loved you and I'm sorry you didn't get a proper tribute that you deserve. I hope you at least had a proper burial. All my love, your son, Mark Kennedy
