Jerold was born in Los Alamos New Mexico on January 22, 1997, to Jerold Mandonado Sr and Rosalie Schulte. Jerold was a joy to be around. He was so shy and quiet, but once he was comfortable, oh my goodness, he could make you laugh like no tomorrow. We can't forget his smile, the kind of smile that was just so darn contagious. Jerold was a fearless person and so persistent in the things he wanted and set his mind to. Jerold was an amazing cook, next best to his grandma Delia Schulte. He absolutely loved the outdoors!! From fishing with his big brother to hunting elk with his dad and stepbrother and shed hunting with friends. He loved going for drives while listening to music, just as if he was the one driving and choosing the next song. He loved football his team was the Denver Broncos; he was for sure a die-hard Bronco fan. Jerold is already so greatly missed by his family and friends.
