

Michael Payne

February 18, 1963 - January 7, 2012

Every life impacts another so strongly. We write obituaries trying to sum up the lives of great men and women. To bring meaning to whom and what they were between the dashes of born on –died on--.

Mike Payne was an adventure down the road of life. He was vibrantly, alive always ready with an easy smile, a smart remark, and in his younger days a ready fist. He married his high school sweetheart Bardy Thornton, and they started their journey down the highway. They added his baby girl Tanya to the journey in 1983, “the baby son to him father”, Nathan, in 1990, and his baby angel Savanna in 1997. Their family was complete. Mike loved his family with a passion and he always wanted for them to be as close to him as possible. He hated that his work sometimes took him far away and that made him want to hold them all the more closer when he was home.

He loved people and he loved to have whing dings at his home. He offered his guests steak, his world famous potato salad, burritos, bean dip, watermelon and a healthy dose of sarcasm. He had something for everyone and especially the ones that dared to venture over on their birthdays. He promptly served them up a birthday whipping like no other. He was a true friend and generous to a fault. Everyone was his favorite.

He was known for calling a spade a spade, being tough as nails, and knew a lot about everything, but his trade mark will always be his laughter. He loved to laugh and make others laugh. He played so many practical jokes on so many people that we could write a book just about that alone. Laughter is such a wonderful medicine and Mike was a regular medicine man. The laughter stopped suddenly for Mike on January 7, 2012. He had made his last stop, played his last joke, and gave us his last smile. But it is the laughter, the generosity, the very vibrancy of Mike that we will remember and treasure. Laughter is what filled the dashes of Mike's life and heaven must be full of laughter because Mike is there.

Michael is Survived by Wife Barbara of the home, Parents Manuel Payne of Roswell, Oleta Mask and her husband Bill of Roswell, three children Tanya Thompson and husband Justin, Nathan Payne and fiancé Ashleigh and Savanna Payne all of Roswell, Brother Manuel Payne, two sisters Kristy Velasco and Mendy Mask and fiancé Pete Hernandez all of Roswell, three Grandchildren Zoe, Ashlyn and Josiah Thompson. Nathan and Ashleigh have a child on the way. Numerous Aunts, Uncles, Cousins, Nieces, Nephews and his friend and neighbor Miss Nellie also survive him.

Services for Michael Payne will be 1pm, Friday, January 13, 2012 at Waymaker Church with Pastor Mark Green officiating. Interment will following at South Park Cemetery. Viewing will be held 12pm – 8pm, Thursday, January 12, 2012.

Pallbearers are listed as Ryan Payne, Joe Smith, Justin Thompson, Nathan Payne, Manuel K. Payne and Gary Willard. Honorary Pallbearers will be Pete Hernandez, Will Garrison, Manuel Payne, Ronnie Parker, Henry Miranda, Trent Moore, Kirk Goldston, Fred and Benjamin Kreutzberg, P.J. “Loved U cowboy cousin,felt like he was a brother. When I was a little girl I lived with him and his parents. Mike treated me like a baby sister, Mike was so kind and loving to me, like a brother. When I was little with no one to play with, it was Mike who played with me and didn't care what anyone said or thought about him playing dolls with me. Mike felt sorry for me that I didn't have any friends to play with. For that I will always love him. When I got married it was mike and manuel who sized up my husband and told my husband that I was their baby cousin-sister and that my husband had better treat me right or he'd come back to California. Mike laughed and gave my husband a big strong hug and laughed, only a person who truly knew him knows that laugh.My husband said he loved Mike too. A place in my heart is missing because Mike is in heaven with the rest of our family. Mike was a wounderful cousin/brother to me I will miss him so much. Bardy and children,please know that Mike always spoke about you to me he always said beautiful things. He loved you so much. Yall will always be a part of me forever too, please remember we are family always. I love yall cousin Lorena
